INSIGHTS

"In the process of providing our students with an excellent education we have tried to instill in them a proper attitude toward work."

In a book titled "Working," a researcher interviewed hundreds of people across the country to find out the current attitude Americans have toward work. In the foreword of his book he wrote:

"This book, being about work, is, by its very nature, about violence — to the spirit as well as to the body. It is about ulcers as well as accidents, about shouting matches as well as fistfights, about nervous breakdowns as well as kicking the dog around. It is, above all, about daily humiliations. To survive the day is triumph enough for the walking wounded among the great many of us."

If this is the pervasive attitude about work, it's no wonder people wear such grim expressions come Monday morning.

William Faulkner wrote, "You can't eat for eight hours a day nor drink for eight hours a day...all you can do for eight hours is work. Which is the reason why man makes himself and everybody else so miserable and unhappy."

Not wanting to remain silent on the topic Mark Twain penned, "I do not like work even when another person does it."

For many people, work has become a necessary evil. It is an unhappy means to a pragmatic end. If you want to pay the bills and pursue the American dream you have to join the ranks of the working "walking wounded."

Work came to mind because 33 students are graduating from Great Lakes Christian College this week. After at least four years of devoted labor and at great personal cost they are now being sent out to a world of work. Will they end up feeling the same way?

Not if they remember the lessons we have tried to teach them. In the process of providing our students with an excellent education we have tried to instill in them a proper attitude toward work. We have taught them the principles found in Colossians 3:23-24 which states, "Whatever you do, do your work heartily, as for the Lord rather than for men... It is the Lord Christ whom you serve." The Apostle Paul says we are to do our work "heartily." The word "heartily" literally means "from the soul." One commentator suggested, "Whatever task we accept, whatever job we set out to do, whatever assignment is given to us, we are to do it diligently, enthusiastically, with all our heart and soul." This is the Christian's work ethic.

Our mission is to prepare students to be servant-leaders for the church and world. The most important lesson we teach is not how to be servant-leaders but why. We agree with Tozer who wrote, "It is not what a man does that determines whether his work is sacred or secular, it is why he does it." As Dorothy Sayers shared, "Work is not primarily a thing one does to live, but the thing one lives to do. It is...the medium in which he offers himself to God."

Our goal is to have graduates who, no matter what they do, work from the soul and unto the Lord.

UPDATES

Great anticipation is rising as dirt is moved, blocks are laid, and the frame of the building goes up.

After over four years of prayer and preparation, the Doty Center will become a reality on the campus of Great Lakes Christian College! Thanks to the many individuals and churches that have been a part of the Partnering to Change Lives campaign, this great addition to our campus will be ready for use by November of this year, Lord willing.

Groundbreaking took place on March 27, with over 270 people in attendance. Among those in attendance were the Doty family, friends of the College, alumni, trustees, students, donors, public officials, and past and present GLCC faculty, staff, and administrators.

These are exciting days for the College. Great anticipation is rising as dirt is moved, blocks are laid, and the frame of the building goes up. You can join us in the excitement by watching the construction as it happens on our webcam. Simply go to the GLCC website and click on "Construction Cam." We anticipate construction to begin by June 1.

The Doty Center will be a wonderful reminder of the legacy left by Dr. Brant Lee Doty. A central feature in the Doty Center will be the Divine Servant sculpture and beautiful wall display that has been designed to grace the lobby. The Doty family has made this possible. This display will highlight the Divine Servant Award and also the Pacesetter and Leadership gifts given during the Partnering to Change Lives campaign.

Many have given to the Doty Center through memorial gifts and special donations. Another special feature will be the brick walkway and memorial garden area at the entrance to the building. This will be a beautiful addition to the Doty Center. (If you would like to 'buy a brick' in honor of or in memory of someone, please do so before September 1, 2007 when the final order will be made. See the form on page 15 or www.glcc.edu. Alumni are encouraged to include their name and class year on a brick.)

Institutional Advancement

Parts of the Doty center arrived on May first.

MISSION TRIPS

... to Mexico

This Spring GLCC sent out two groups of students during our week of outreach. George Brown, Professor of English, led a mission trip to Mexico and the Yucatan. Students included Ashley Sprandel, Kyle Chauncey, Samantha Saltsman, Addie Neuenschwander, Chris Gates, Greg Bisdorf, Sherry Vang, Jaron Buschert, and Alumna Sabrina Mudd (BS 2006) and a group from the Elizabeth Lake Church in Waterford, Michigan. Craig Gates (BRE 1975) of Christ's Mission to the Yucatan organized the trip. They shared the gospel, painted, and mixed the ubiquitous concrete.

This trip (Mexico) was truly fantastic as a whole, but I think that what I enjoyed the most was when the Great Lakes girls moved in with Tony and Elizabeth's family. They opened up their home to us without any qualms and as we began setting up our hammocks after a rather sweaty day of work Tony and Elizabeth surprised us... they had placed buckets of water outside in the sunlight that morning so that we girls had warm water to bathe with. It was one of the most loving and thoughtful things anyone has ever done for me. I'm not sure they knew how much it meant to us, but this tiny act of thoughtfulness really touched my heart.

— Ashley Sprandel

... to Hong Kong

The trip to Hong Kong was led by Brian (BRE 1999) and Betsy (Riggs, BRE 1999) Carter and Alvin Kuest, Professor of Christian Education. Brian is the Director of Campus Life and Betsy is the Dean of Students. The students led worship services for a nursing home and a drug rehab center and taught children at a local Christian Church. Students included Esther Chong, Tim Acker, Dan Akins, Jeremy Brummel, Stacy Strammel, Ivy Burke, Chelsea Cronin, Luke Ryggs, Adam Robinson, and Walter and Jamie Neuenschwander.

At New Being Christian Fellowship (the drug rehab center we visited for two days) I was playing one of their guitars. A few of the guys were watching me play and in broken English asked me to sing. I didn't know what to sing so my husband suggested, "Lord I Lift Your Name on High." I started playing and singing. Tears came to my eyes as they sang along in their own language. Later we all sang that song together during worship. What a beautiful thing to praise God together with another nation and tongue.

After going on the trip to Hong Kong, I realized that the world is not so big, yet there are a lot of people in need of the Good News. Using your everyday situations as an opportunity to share God's love is one of the greatest challenges in our world, but the most rewarding.

— Jamie Neuenschwander

My favorite part of the mission trip to Hong Kong was working with the elderly. It was a great opportunity and I saw how our praise music still touched their lives, even across the language barrier. This trip challenged me to see people in a different light, it revealed to me how big the world actually is and how God can unite brothers and sisters in Christ across the world.

— Luke Ryggs

The Hong Kong group visited a retirement/nursing home - the red envelopes are something the Chinese give each other for Chinese New Year and we gave them envelopes with encouraging Christian messages. They lead songs and games with the group in the picture, then visited with the residents throughout the home.

ALUMNI

Family tradition goes on...

Great Lakes Christian College has hardly gone a semester since 1990 without a member of the Harden Family. As the second cousin of GLCC's first president Ralph Woodard, Pat Harden (1991-1999) must have had GLCC instilled in her at a young age. Pat and her husband Bruce have had the privilege of all of their children (and their children's spouses) attending GLCC. The first to attend was daughter Kathy Greenlee from 1990-1992 when she met her husband Kevin (BRE 1998). Soon after Kathy, followed Pat and her next daughter Karen Fallot (BRE 1997) where Karen met her husband Matt (BRE 1997). Next came daughter Kelly Harris (BS 2000) and her husband Ash (BS 1999). Currently attending are son Jeff (engaged to our Registrar, Jessie Ellis) and daughter Jamie Neuenschwander and her husband Walter (AA 2007).

Kathy and Kevin are at the First Church of Christ in Niles where Kevin is the senior minister. Karen and Matt are active in the Midland Christian Church. Kelly and Ash are ministering with the Charlotte Church of Christ and Jeff, Jessie, Jamie, and Walter currently serve with Pat and Bruce at the Duplain Church of Christ.

Pat remembers fondly the semesters that she attended with Karen, Kelly, Kevin, Ash, and Matt all at the same time. "GLCC is like a second home to us!" says Pat.

And we are told that the Harden family tradition will not stop soon... it is planned that only one year after Jamie graduates, Pat and Bruce Harden's first grandchild will attend GLCC!

RECIPIENT OF THE DIVINE SERVANT AWARD — RICK STACY

Rick Stacy came to Meridian Christian Church in 1998 after starting churches in Beaver Creek Christian Church, Ohio, in 1986 and Lake Superior Christian Church in Marquette in 1977. Previous to this, Rick and his wife, Donna, served the Lakeshore Church of Christ in St. Joseph, Michigan from 1973-1977. Donna has been active in the church during their entire ministry and is very much a part of their effectiveness.

Rick earned a Bachelor of Religious Education degree from Great Lakes Christian College in 1973 and a Masters of Practical Ministry degree from Kentucky Christian College in 1994.

Rick and Donna were married in 1971 while attending college and have three daughters: Shannon, Sandi, and Susan. Shannon and Sandi each have their own families and are active Christians. Susan is developmentally disabled and is living in a group home here in the Lansing area.

Currently Rick is the Pastor of the Meridian Christian Church, Chaplain of the Meridian Township Fire Department, a member of the GLCC board of trustees, and a member of the Okemos Community Education Advisory Network.

Born November 2, 1969, baptized into God's Kingdom on Sunday, April 15, 2001, Carl Gerald Renaldi of Charlotte, Michigan, my amazing husband, man of God, Humorist extraordinaire, went home at the young age of 37 to serve our Lord. He died unexpectedly, on March 4, 2007. Surviving are his loving wife, Deborah Sue (Cronkright); and three children, Marissa Leah Renaldi, Kathryn Renaldi-Smith, and Evan Robert Renaldi-Smith. Carl loved Karate and was a third degree black belt teaching with Young Champions. He had a passion for serving Jesus Christ and was looking forward to graduation May 19, 2007 from Great Lakes Christian College. Donations may be made to the Michigan Education Savings Program Acct #1931322 for our youngest child Marissa. -Deborah Renaldi

We loved Carl at Ashland Center Church of Christ. He and his wife were a perfect fit together. I am happy God put them together. They fit right in with us. They took us in and we took them in. We could tell by his sermons that he put time and effort into them. You could tell he loved to preach and that he and his wife lived what he preached. I feel honored to have known him and blessed that we at Ashland Center were the last people to hear him preach. WE ARE ALL GOING TO MISS CARL AND HIS WIFE DEBBIE!

A. J. McKinley from the Ashland Center Church of Christ.

SCHOLARSHIP

"Life is this frailest thing. Death is certain. Its sudden visitation on the young saddens us, but it should not surprise. Our whole life is a dance at the doors of Death."

I've attended two funerals this Spring, both for young men of God who attended GLCC. I am reminded of how tenuous life is. Pascal writes, "Between heaven and hell there is only life, which is the frailest thing of all."

Life is this frailest thing. Death is certain. Its sudden visitation on the young saddens us, but it should not surprise. Our whole life is a dance at the doors of Death. Many people keep pirouetting to avoid its presence, but Death need not have such power over us. Indeed, a right understanding of Death may help us to live a richer life, to dance with more Grace.

At the moment of loss, the pain is real, as real as the death of the loved one. And at that moment the temptation to listen to worldly wisdom is keen. But our Culture invites only the saddest comfort, a whiskey-breathed curse, a whimsical wish, or a wail of pain, and then some soft pseudo-comfort muttered that the dead aren't quite dead, that they live on as long as our love holds them in memory. Tell that to the silent void always standing where the loved one might have stood, but for the Death. We Christians know that comfort does not come through lies, but in the Truth. When Paul writes that we do not grieve as some, he is not saying that our grief is not real, but that it is different from those who do not know the Truth, who cannot take comfort in the promises of God.

We know that our loved one is not dead merely, nor merely held by that most feeble repository — our memories. We know that he is sleeping, that he is waiting for the call. And when it sounds, he will rise, he will stand before God, our Creator. And the concreteness of his new self will mock our feeble hopes for him, it will outshine our dim vision. His inheritance, his resurrected self, will be "undefiled, imperishable, full of glory." He will no longer be obliged by hope, nor by faith. For he will be in the very presence of Love Himself. Because of the promises of God, we know this.

Our grief, then, is because of a temporary separation, a loss of such small duration in the eternal scheme that to dwell on it is to forget the promises. For we believe:

When this perishable will have put on the imperishable, and this mortal will have put on immortality, then will come about the saying that is written, "Death is swallowed up in victory." I Cor. 15:54

Our Culture thinks this a fable. It thinks that a life freed of the "illusion" of a resurrection is more honest. It hums a little John Lennon "Imagine" and contents itself with the here and now. But to deny a resurrection is a most unholy vision. It denies the power of God, the promises He has made. And it makes Death in the here and now the victor.

The Christian has opportunity to seize those moments of Death and to declare God's deliverance. Paul Gregory Alms writes, Here finally is the real triumph over death, not through chemotherapy or catheters but faith. "I believe in the resurrection of the body and the life everlasting," we say, even as that body, completely lifeless and void, is swallowed by the earth. Swallowed, consumed, digested even, but not defeated. For, as the committal reminds us, God the Father made that body, God the Son redeemed that body with his blood, and the Holy Spirit made it his temple.

Placing the body in the ground is not the final sadness but the last defiance, for we go to the graveyard believing that on that great Easter to come . . . the tombs will break open and the bodies of the saints will rise to life.

"Death Unplugged" Touchstone (March 2007) p. 21.

The Christian, even in his grief, must sing a victory song. Amazing Grace would be so much less than it is without that final verse: "When we've been there ten thousand years, bright shining as the sun, we've no less days to sing His praise than when we'd first begun."

ADMISSIONS

"Our teams will be traveling extensively throughout Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, and Pennsylvania... and to Kansas!"

Summer is quickly approaching as I write this article. The students will soon be leaving for the extended summer break. For most of the campus the summer is a quiet time, a chance to take a breath and get caught up. Not so for the Admissions Department!

Our summer is shaping up to be a very busy time. This summer we will send three Summer Outreach Teams to eight CIYs, ten camps, and to the National Bible Bowl Tournament in Kansas City! In addition to training and supervising these students during their tours of duty, the Admissions Staff will be visiting church youth groups, attending church events, hosting campus visits, and working with prospective students who are looking for a great education. Yes, it is a very busy time indeed and we are looking forward to it with great anticipation!

I would like to take this opportunity to solicit your prayers on behalf of our 2007 Summer Outreach Teams. Our teams will be traveling extensively throughout Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, and Pennsylvania... and to Kansas! Pray for their travel safety. This summer they will be stretched in many ways as they put in very long hours in various conditions working closely with their fellow teammates and camp leadership. Please pray for their patience and endurance. They will have the awesome privilege of sharing Christ and ministering to the needs of many young people over the summer. They will come in contact with youth with a variety of needs. Please pray for wisdom and discernment as they work with these youth. Our Summer Outreach Teams provide a great service, both in representing GLCC in word and deed, and to those they serve in the field. They will also have the opportunity to mature and grow spiritually. We would appreciate your prayers on their behalf. If you would like to pray more specifically, please e-mail me at lscharer@glcc.edu and I will provide you with additional detail.

We still have room for a few good students! Keep your eyes and ears open for those seeking a great education. We are anxious to talk about the many great benefits GLCC has to offer. Let us know how we can contact them!

NCFR WELCOMES 101ST ACADEMIC DEGREE PROGRAM FOR CFLE

NCFR reviews and approves Family Science degrees for pursuit of the Certified Family Life Educator credential. Graduates of approved programs can apply for the CFLE without a portfolio review or the standardized exam. We recently passed the 100th mark with the 99th, 100th and 101st programs: the University of Georgia, Great Lakes Christian College, and Mississippi State University, respectively, that now have approved CFLE curricula. Congratulations to these programs and welcome to the NCFR family!

For a listing of all schools with approved CFLE curricula, and information on how to apply for program approval, please visit <http://www.ncfr.org/cert/academic/index.asp>

The credentials provided for our Family Life Education graduates by the National Family Life Counsel is a statement of the value and excellence of our program. This degree positions our graduates to be able to use their Biblical theology instruction with the training in family life theory and practices to strengthen one of the pillars of society, the family. This degree allows us to provide servant-leaders that will expand God's reign in the church and in the world.
